

City School District of Albany

Celebrating the important role of parents in student achievement

Christina Wiley

Eagle Point Elementary School

Christina is a strong advocate not only for her children, but for the entire Eagle Point Elementary School community. She has worked diligently to ensure that Eagle Point students are afforded all of the resources necessary to support the school's academic programming.

“By spending time at school I feel I’m investing in my children’s future. I get to know their fellow students as well as the entire school community. I see our teachers working at teaching our students life-long lessons of tolerance and patience while working with each other. I enjoy being a small part of that.”

