Celebrating the important role of parents in student achievement

Eboney and Eric Kersey

Philip J. Schuyler Achievement Academy

The Kerseys are involved parents. They are dependable and make it their business to know the rules. They support school-wide initiatives and express concern about school-wide issues, asking what they can do to help. Eric coaches basketball at the school and Eboney helps out at every game.

“We feel that being involved in our children’s school is imperative, not only for their success, but for the school as well. We feel that being involved in their school shows them that we care about their success in life. They will not only dream of success, they will believe that it will come to fruition. The best reward for us is to hear our children’s names called at the Awards Ceremony at the end of the school year. It shows us that all of our hard work has paid off.”
