Let me give you an update

About the 44th president of the United States.

It's Michelle Obama that is his mate

Their two children you could never ever hate

Obama saw that he could make a change

This whole country he would have to rearrange

He said all this street violence got to stop

When he was elected the KKK was shocked

He graduated from Columbia University and Harvard Law School

He did this so he can become a great president for you

Obama also is the first African-American president of the U.S.

When he won, the whole entire country was impressed

From being Junior U.S. Senator from Illinois he had to resign

On January 20th, 2009

Obama will do fine

And that was my update

On the president of the United States
